

Ace Enders, Can't Run Away

Walk out not thinking twice
One fist full of money and the other lies
Just one reason why you had to run
So let's just say you had enough
Of this torture built up inside
A mixed up youth and an awkward smile
You carried your whole life
And now you're gone into the night
You said oh where do we go to find you
Not only that but hide you from giving it up
No you can't run away
'Cause you know I will follow
No you can't run away from your pain
I will follow
You woke in paradise
A cloudy day and the salty sky was raining on your head
Just like it did before you left
And you notice nothing's changed
Everything looks just the same
And you fall down to your knees
A look of shock into a scream
You said oh where do we go to find you
Not only that but hide you from giving it up
No you can't run away
'Cause you know I will follow
No you can't run away from your pain
I will follow
I know you're not ready to see, it's okay
Take it from me, you're alright
You gotta believe.
