Ace Troubleshooter, But For Grace

Fire burns in the grate The guilt burns in the breast Of every prisoner The guilty, the condemned Death is red on their hands The galling chains reminding Every minute The Law that was broken

Silent as the grave Covering deeds, covering man Eyes that pierce and blaze Wounded hands, stretching out To save

Moonlit nights on their knees Stifling screams ready To break from conscience The voice of the innocent So the time marches on The future melts into the past At last, the bitter reprieve

Silent as the grave Covering deeds, covering man Eyes that pierce and blaze Wounded hands, stretching out To save