

Acron, Obsession

millions of images are growing in my eyes as they vortically twist a state of confusion absorbs my sight feelings of claustrophobia dwell inside my shadow hitting every obstacle I'm breathlessly dragging myself to the goal faded vision confuse my path suspended in a supernatural dimension I try to resist paralyzed by obsession strange eyes, unknown faces surrounded by fears I try to escape drowning in a sea of terror I try to escape

by the light of just one candle I walk through this dark dead end symbols and screams follow my steps while the cold wind of tragedy cuts my skin