

Acumen Nation, Father In The Wall

well anyway, i found out yesterday what i was never supposed to hear about the cracking shocking pain i had exposed and the time i allowed this to get to me i froze up in the flame that i believe i believe was sent to kill me...

on a bed of a thousand nails that i slit my eyes one million times, it's the way to go when all and all is nothing well speaking of my past, did i mention the family the ones who never ever tolerated me to scream and the last time i spoke aloud his name it drove me quite insane with the knowledge and the feeling that i was no one... i was no one

have you heard the one about the father in the wall it's got the truth, it's got it all in under a minute and it's scary as hell, and i swear to god you'll never forget it what, that one about me -- well it's a lie! a fucking lie! goddamn anyone who believes her silly little stories about no one in particular

on a bed of a thousand nails that i slit my eyes
one million times, it's the way to go
when all and all is nothing.. nothing
when all and all is nothing, nothing when all and all and all is nothing, all is nothing...