

Adair, Afraid To Breathe

Phone calls from another place
These days they rarely come
Calls that I can't answer
Does it burn as bad for you as it does for me?
I'm afraid to breathe

So wait another year
I thought you'd come tomorrow
So wait another year
Who knows just what we'll find
If you came back tomorrow we would never be the same

I'd stumble for the words to say
If we were face to face
And minutes feel like years
So it's been a billion years or so
Since you left me here

Every song
Every word
Every picture
Every song
Every word
All for you

I thought you'd come tomorrow
So wait another year
Who knows just what we'll find
If you came back tomorrow we would never be the same
So wait another year
Who knows until we try
If you came back tomorrow we would never be the same
So wait another year
You're still my everything
If you came back tomorrow we would never be the same
