

Adair, Separate Your Jaw

Learn to separate your jaw
When you find things are hard to swallow.

The wolves are closing in.
I've got a head full of pills,
And my hands are shaking,
I need to shed this winter skin.
It's a fall from grace
I think we all should take.

If you're careful with the flame
You could save yourself
Quite a bit of pain.
And if you're careful with a heartbreak
You could cover up
And replace.

You can say you don't care at all,
But I know better.
It's your eyes that betray you.
As you stand and face the squall,
Don't be afraid.
I won't let you die alone.

I can't seem to stop.
I'm bouncing back and forth
And everywhere around you.
And I can't seem to get up.
My head's so cloudy.
The wolves are coming and it's...

Dangerous.
