Adam And The Ants, Kiss The Drummer

In for a penny in for a pound
If she walks by you better turn around
She wants sparkle and she don't give a damn
As well be hung for
A sheep than a lamb

So be her daddy She hits back Kiss the drummer Rat-a-tat-tat

Got to learn to laugh at this Laugh and enjoy herself Miss fierce kiss the drummer

Little by little, bit by bit Love stood laughing at this locksmith She may be wrong, and she may be right But barking dogs they Seldom bite

In the panic and the traumas Miss fierce puts a bee Fierce legwarmers

When men think big And by golly they do Don't wanna go crying Boo-hooing at you
