Addict, Dust

I just lost my best friend I miss you so much I wish my life would end I cannot get up from down here I cried until dust appeared I'm trying to let go But it hurts like I've never been hurt before And it feels like I'll never smile again I connot sleep without you there All I wanted was to be with you everywhere Let me quietly fade away The best part of me left today I'm trying to let go But it hurt like I've never been hurt before And it feels like I'll never smile again
