

Adema, Cold And Jaded

For all of those who have been took Think ya better take another look
Because they're never really what they seem Swear never to betray the only honest man
Ever to set foot upon his promised land
Before you take them by the hand

I thought I'd let you know
My true reaction
Your true colors show
Are love has faded
To cold and jaded

You cannot pretend
That there's nothing left to defend
How can you decide
Who goes and who stays
You talk behind my back
So much that I can't keep track
And you forget about what they need
And then you plant another hate seed

I thought I'd let you know
My true reaction
Your true colors show
Are love has faded
To cold and jaded

Soon as they come
They go even faster
Must be destined for familiar disaster
There she goes
There she goes again

I thought I'd let you know
My true reaction
Your true colors show
Are love has faded
To cold and jaded