

Admiral Twin, I Don't Know All I Know

I don't know what I'm supposed to feel
All I know is that these feelings keep on haunting me
I don't feel what I'm supposed to know
But my thoughts are plagued by old memories

All I know's that forever is a sacrifice endeavor
Into people, into places
Sharing complicated spaces
When the smiling, happy faces go away
There will still be a happiness we feel together

When I'm with you I like the things I see
All the innocence, the beauty there is holding me
To a hope that I would be with you
And our joys would be a plenty
And our sorrows few

All I know's that forever is a sacrifice endeavor
Into people, into places
Sharing complicated spaces
When the smiling, happy faces go away
There will still be a happiness we feel together

I have learned a few things from my past
And I know someday I'll find a love that's going to last
Hold me now and tell me you're the one
That I'll love now and forever until time is done

All I know's that forever is a sacrifice endeavor
Into people, into places
Sharing complicated spaces
When the smiling, happy faces go away
There will still be a happiness we feel together