

After The Tragedy, Roses In The Fence

Start the van set the gears into overdrive there's a burning for rock that will not subside
'til the stage is in flames and the crowd is blind chasing dreams with the speed of a tear that hides under eyes of a nonchalant goodbye for a lover who's at the end of life with the pride of a shell from a .45 still smoking in the hand of the one alive your voices test the tears that distort our eyes If our hearts were the rain, you would be the clouds
If your love was the clouds it would rain, rain down If hatred were fire then this town could not burn down

[Chorus:]

This is our destination (We are the unified)
Our hearts exhaust dejection (We will, we will not die)

[Verse]

[Chorus]

[Bridge:]

So goodbye to everyone, I'll return before long Your intention leads you on; this is your deserved song
So I'll write for your assent, you should know your meaning you're the roses in our fence You're our words concluding
