

After The Tragedy, Stained Glass Expectations

Colored shards rain down like misguided confetti
How can something so beautiful cause so much dismay
Blood drops exclaim their existence
Running hand-in-hand with unending pain

[Chorus:]

I can

Do this alone

But why

Would I want to

My hands

Bleed all day long

My mind

Knows I could never reach you

I've sacrificed friendships, dismembered family through everything I gained I threw my world away

What cost is worth your existence

When everyone you know has gone away?

[Chorus]

Here I stand broken-hand-anger management

I threw my life away throw everything away

This time I die to fight I'll reside under twilight

I threw my life away throw everything away