

Against All Authority, In On Your Joke

its your story and i'm just the antithesis to your american dream and i sit here in this fucken nightmare watching you, biding time and telling lies and im wondering why your even here at all its your salvation that leaves me in this eternal hell to a complacent life of shit that leaves me choking on the smell of ruined lives, and wasted minds and good ideas that leave people shot down in the street children cold with nothing to eat the homeless with their shoeless feet and fat cats and their wealthy hags pass people living out of bags shit can someone give me hope your goal in life is to live until you die my goal in death is to escape this pathetic human sky cuz where the air is poison and the raindrops burn and sex is death

well its hard for me to see whats left when generals are struck down from the sky and politicians are victims of their lies when all the cops are locked in jail and all the priests have gone to hell when lawyers rot in growing heaps and our world leaders are buried deep well thats the day

thats the day ill find my hope
