

Against Myself, Over the Clouds

Have you got enemies?
That means you stand up for something.
Do not apologize for feeding empty lives.
Time to say goodbye.

Break it!
They just hate a reflection of what they'd love to be.
Don't ever be afraid to show imperfections,
They're always gonna stay.

Sailing over the clouds.

Ignore the crowds who wanna see you fail,
'cause they are frail.
Stand your ground against the deceivers.
Our light will burn the eyes of those ones
who want to see us down.

Have you felt the disease?
That moment when you question your choices, stand before the abyss and scream your secrets to the wind.

Doesn't matter what they think of us,
in the end it's gonna be our way,
with the choices that we make.

Sailing over the clouds.

Ignore the crowds who wanna see you fail,
'cause they are frail.
Stand your ground against the deceivers.
Our light will burn the eyes of those ones
who won't see us...

Keep moving on, their hate is our motivation.

Your words are venomous,
but they won't affect us.

When the black clouds
don't allow us to see the sun.
When the burden is so heavy to carry on.

Our voices will join together and we will break through the sound of their minds with united hands, we will stand as one.
