Agathodaimon, An Angel's Funeral

A weeping procession, moving through the snow Silent pale faces, perceptible pain Winter silence - terrible tranquillity Cold eyes starin' far away

Mirrors of mourning, nothing else Blinded by grief they are...everyone Awaitin' your final way Watchin' the frozen pit and see We've lost reality

A field of crystal tears, the downfall of heaven Snow softly falls, frozen tears from above This bitter loss...an angel's funeral A casket filled with beloved flesh Cold as the world around I can't believe what my eyes see through clouds of icy breath

No bird sings in dead trees No sound fills the frozen air I stand at the angel's tomb... alone A whole world ending to exist