

Agents Of Oblivion, Song That Crawls little creeper in the shade under my brain in caterpillars hundredth eye under mushroom clouds in the rain, child i wrote your name in sparrows blood upon your madhouse wall i drug my belly cross the river bed of skulls to sing ya'll a song that crawls that song that crawls aw, that song that crawls when i spoke your name out loud again, i wondered when you'd bring the rain back to me?

i'm wondering had we ever really lived at all? when they closed the coffin lid on the tombstone king...pierce my eyelids again
aw,that song that crawls
aw,that song that crawls