

Ahead To The Sea, Drifting Away

Once somebody sang I will never again fall in what they called Love Ha...
But a pair of green eyes and the sky did shine in gold
Now I'm lying here and my heart is spilled
Allover the dirty floor and between empty bottles and ashtray
Covered by a shade of smoke

And all I'm able to do
Is staring outside into
The far world she lives in
To see the sun...

Drifting away

Don't get me wrong I like when I'm in love
But I hate the way I'm weak, I'm Without shield and armour and words can get in deep
Still I m lying here and my heart is spilled
Allover the dirty floor and between empty bottles and ashtray
Covered by a shade of smoke

And so I wrote her name down
With my blood on a piece
Of paper and set it on fire
To watch the ash...

Drifting away
