

Aimee Mann, Mr. Harris

So he's retired lives with his sister in a furnished flat he's got this suit that he'll never wear outside without a hat his hair is white but he looks half his age he looks like Jimmy Stewart in his younger days.

And honestly, I might be stupid to think love is love but I do
and you've waited so long and I've waited long enough for you.

My mother's calling from where she's living up in Troy, Vermont she tries to tell me a father figure must be what I want I've always thought age makes no difference am I the only one to whom that's making sense?

And honestly, I might be
stupid to think love is love
and you've waited so long and
I've waited long enough for you.

The day I met him he was raking leaves in his tiny yard.
Of course I know that we've only got ten years, or twenty, left but to be honest I'm happy with whatever time we get depending on which book you read sometimes it takes a lifetime to get what you need.

And honestly, I might be
stupid to think love is love
and you've waited so long and I've waited long enough for you.
