

Aimee Mann, Sign Of Love

Candellabras light your ancient eyes, well hope may live but passion lies, upon your lips scratched out in blue, all loves lies are impromptu, but all of the stars in the darkness-

give me a sign, a sign of love, give me a sign, a sign of love

Twenty thousand midnight trains will run, past your window, tears will come, do you, whose eyes refuse to see, pass the test of history, but all of the stars in the darkness-

give me a sign, a sign of love, give me a sign, a sign of love, give me a sign, a sign of love, give me a sign, a sign of love

The heavens are spinning, they're shooting down at us across the sky, but still you are looking, and pointing, you don't know why, the signs are in the sky, thats love!

But all of the stars in the darkness, give me a sign, a sign of love, give me a sign, a sign of love, give me a sign, a sign of love, give me a sign, a sign of love, give me a sign, a sign of love, give me a sign, a sign of love....