

Air Supply, I'll Be Thinking Of You

When the sun sets on the ocean
When the yellow touches the blue
When your heart begins to open
I'll be so close to you

When you're dreaming and I hold you
Remember that dream will come true
When you wake up and you need me
You'll know just what to do

In the winter when it's raining
And the sun can never shine through
All those days of endless waiting
I'll be thinking of you

When thunder breaks the dawn
When all my strength is gone
When shadows disappear
I'll still be holding on

When the sun sets on the ocean
When the yellow touches the blue
When your heart begins to open
I'll be so close to you

When you're dreaming and I hold you
Remember that dream will come true
When you wake up and you need me
You'll know just what to do

In the winter when it's raining
And the sun can never shine through
When your heart begins to open
When your heart begins to open
When your heart begins to open

I'll be thinking of you