

Air Supply, Love Conquers Time

Love conquers time without fear, without proof
It will rise it will strike in your name
Love conquers time like the light from the moon
It must never be taken in vain

So when you feel the beat is gone
The love you give away will carry on

Love conquers time just like tears in the sand
It will change with each direction you try
Love conquers time from the moment you fall
To those arms like a child you will fly

So when you feel the beat is gone
The love you give away will carry on
It will carry on

Seasons rise and fall from a silent command
Beyond that place of our forever
The road goes on to where it can never end

Love conquers time without fear, without proof
It will rise it will strike in your name
Love conquers time like the light from the moon
It must never be taken in vain

Love conquers time just like tears in the sand
It will change with each direction you try
Love conquers time from the moment you fall
To those arms like a child you will fly