

Air Supply, Never Fade Away

Walking along the boulevard
Speaking into the air
Where can I find the life
I know that only dreams can share
I close my eyes and see you there
Calling me far beyond
Wrapped in a robe of mystery
You wave your magic wand

Maybe it's real, only life is illusion
Don't break my heart
Hold out your hand, and I'll never lose you
Don't break my heart

Yes, I'm a man, and just flesh and bone
But you do not love, all my dreams are your home
I stare thru a veil, so thin yet so near
And walk in your footsteps, as you
Cast off my fear

Walk with me thru the gates of time, to eternity
and our love, will never fade away

We can fly to a bridge across the sky
Where the souls that would always cry
Will never fade away

Walking along the boulevard
Wishing we were complete
Why are some things so very hard to witness and believe

The victor of this universe
The victim of the wind
Where does a dream begin and end
And where does life begin

Maybe it's real, only life is illusion
Don't break my heart
Hold out your hand, and I'll never lose you
Don't break my heart

Yes, I'm a man, and just flesh and bone
But you do not love, all my dreams are your home
I stare thru a veil, so thin yet so near
And walk in your footsteps, as you
Cast off my fear

Walk with me thru the gates of time, to eternity
and our love, will never fade away

We can climb to a bridge across the sky
Where the souls that would always cry
Will never fade away

We can climb to a bridge across the sky
Where the souls that would always cry
Will never fade away