Alan Parsons, Separate Lives

It's been a long road We've walked the last mile We reach the same conclusion And we stop for a while Together we know The way we must go We're leaving an illusion That's for us to share Only for us to share We live our separate lives And go our different ways Cause we don't see eye to eye And we can't stand face to face We live our separate lives While counting all the days Till the two of us arrive In another time and place We share the same thoughts We read the same lines We meet on sad occasions And in happier times A spoken goodbye And both of us try To walk away in silence That's for us to share Only for us to share We live our separate lives And go our different ways Cause we don't see eye to eye And we can't stand face to face We live our separate lives While counting all the days Till the two of us arrive In another time and place And always goodbye But heaven knows why I can't erase the memory That's for us to share Only for us to share Only for us to share We live our separate lives And go our different ways Cause we don't see eye to eye And we can't stand face to face We live our separate lives While counting all the days Till the two of us arrive In another time and place
