

Alanis Morissette, Symptoms

The missile sent today killed only 3
The rest were saved, they're far enough away
To not really feel the direct effect on me
They caught him today
Based ridiculously on his race
They weren't sure he even did it
But they needed a random face

Chorus

All these symptoms, symptoms of a simpler cause
I've had moments in my life when I've contributed by believing we are Separate, we are separate
Disconnected in this unity
He won today, smug self-satisfaction on his face
He blew the others out of the water
He said and was glad they were disgraced

Chorus

He stole what he could
He only had minutes before he'd be caught
He justified every penny taken by blaming the gap between the rich and rich not
Chorus
