

Alannah Myles, You Love Who You Love

I can leave you like that just walk out the door and never come back

I
can stay all my life
with you by my side
I might call it always

I
ask you to change
to be someone else
one that I dream of

I
can hope that in time both my love wait at the end of the day loving you love

If
the waves turns storm of the ocean
If
the skys grow dark with rain we will see it through clear water
if each of us
if each of us
gives just a little more

I
can say that we were through and just stay away and find someone new But
all my words would be lies we both of us know what's true at the end of the day love cooh love

If
the waves turn the storm of the ocean If
the skys grow dark with rain
we will see it through clear water
if each of us
if each of us
can gives just a little more.oo.just a little more.oh yeah yeah

we will see it through clear water
if each of us
if each of us
can gives just a little more...

ooh ooh ooh
