

Alarm, The, Where Were You Hiding When The Storm Broke ?

Alarm, The

Declaration

Where Were You Hiding When The Storm Broke ?

Born into a war and peace

Forced to choose between a right and wrong

Each man kills the thing he loves

For better or for worse

Face to face with a ragged truth

Mixed up and torn in two

And turned your back on the only thing

That could save you from yourself

Where were you hiding

When the storm broke

When the rain began to fall

When the thunder and the lightning struck

And the rain and the four winds did howl

After all time building up

Comes inevitable knocking down

(one by one)

Comes receivers liars gamblers

Pick pocket entourage

(two by two)

Selling out is a cardinal sin

Sinning with a safety net (three by three)

They say that all things come in threes

Here comes the third degree

Where were you hiding

When the storm broke

When the rain began to fall

When the thunder and the lightning struck

And the rain and the four winds did howl

All cards are marked

And all fates will collide

The truth is the truth

Or the truth is surely a lie

Get back in your shelter

If you can't come down off the fence

And one more question

Where were you?

Where were you?

Where were you hiding

When the storm broke

When the rain began to fall

When the thunder and the lightning struck

And the four winds did howl

Where were you hiding

When the storm broke

When the rain began to fall

Where were you hiding

When the storm broke

When the rain began to fall

Where were you hiding

Four

Winds

Howl
