

Albert King, Change Of Pace

Hey, I went 'cross town to see my woman
I knocked upon her door
She said, "Baby I'm glad ya stopped by,
I just can't see ya no more"

Honey you've been replaced
Honey you've been replaced
I need a change of pace
I need a change of pace

Well I found a new face, so
Baby stay away, I need a change of pace

I never thought that she was cheating
I was the last one to know
I found out, yesterday
When I knocked upon her door

Honey you've been replaced
Honey you've been replaced
I need a change of pace
I need a change of pace

Honey, I found a new face
Baby stay away
I need a change of pace

Um!

I passed her on the sidewalk
Ya almost didn't even speak
People, I felt so doggone bad
Yes and my knees got weak

She said, you've been replaced
Honey you've been replaced
I need a change of pace
I need a change of pace
Honey I've found a new face
So baby stay away
I need a change of pace

I need a change of pace

I need a change of pace
I need a change of pace
I need a change of pace
Well I found a new face
So baby stay away, I need a change of pace

Change of pace
I need a change of pace
Change of pace
I need a change of pace

I found a brand new face
Honey, you've been replaced
I need a change of pace

Change of pace
Woo!
Change of pace

I need a change of pace

I found a brand new face

Change of pace
Change of pace

(Honey, you've been replaced)

I need a change of pace

I need a change of pace

Change of pace
I got a brand new face...
