

Aleesha Rome, If Only I Could Cry

I'm watching the raindrops as they fall
Feels like the sky is crying
If only my eyes were not so cruel
Then maybe the tears would show you

I know they'd fill up an ocean
If I could set them free
If only you could see
If only I could cry

No one has cared enough before
To tell me or write it down in words
And no one has reached me like you do
And I want the world to know that
If you don't see a teardrop falling

Help me set them free
I've got to make you see
If only I could cry

Tomorrow I'll catch the early train
Be out of your life forever
The letter I wrote tried to explain
I know you won't understand

My tears would fill up an ocean
If I could set them free
If only you could see
If only I could cry
