

Alessia Cara, River Of Tears

still got the flowers that you sent and I know you're all the same we were meant to be forever

I keep my mother's evidence in a jar under the mirror filled with promises

I don't know why
I keep letting you lie to me hard as I try it seems I carry away

I thought that you would be the hero come and save the day but you're the valiant with sins unforgiven

I am going down
and you have watched me drown
in the river of tears
lost beneath the stream under the waves I find the strength to say the river of tears is wash me clean

go hell
and wish me well
I will cry
and wish you well
I will find before I fell I sincerely drift away so I won't need you here love sinks and hope lost
in the river of tears
in the river of tears