

Alessia D'Andrea, Time to pray

If I could fly over my soul dancing in circles with the wind that blows I'd take the time that flows and can't stop I'd take the sun that burns, to keep them for you.
So, leave me the time to pray for you
just leave me the time to pray on my knees
for your life, leave me time
just leave me the time to pray.
If I could sing beyond my voice touching the heart of the angel made of light I'd ask the most important people to keep away the pain and save us from harm.
So, leave me the time to pray for you
just leave me the time to pray on my knees
for your life, leave me time
just leave me the time to pray.
