

Aletheia, All Of My Heart

Thoughts consume me endlessly as I sing this melody. Heart's emotions overflow, because it's you I want to know. I want you Lord to become my source of hope. I need you Lord to come and rescue me.

It's only by your grace and love that I'm here today. The promise that you give to me, that you'll always stay. And I don't want to live my life for any other, you are the way. That is why I want to say...I love you.

The worries of my heart just fade. When I think of all you've made. The heavens and the earth you hold, my life is yours to take and mold. I want you Lord to become my strength my all. I need you Lord to come and be my life.

I love you with all my heart. I love you with all of my soul.
I love you with all of my strength. I love you with all of my mind.
