

Alex Lloyd, Trigger

it's a new day
wasting away
nothing to lose my friend
by the street lamp
watching them move
on to the bus again

you're the old school
breaking the rules
party till the end
so you feel more
something for hoping to make amends

do you need
somebody
could it be anyone
but I know the answer
you're somebody

and if you feel this way again these days you know they get better if you feel this way again these days can only get better star grace

over your face
into the night again
it's a cruel life
with nothing to bear
when everyone's a friend

it's a sweet song
all gone wrong
don't seem like it will end put the blue sky
into your life
hope to make amends

and if you feel this way again
these days can only get better
if you feel this way again
these days can only get better

sink sink it's coming round living it up
when you're feeling down