

Alex Lloyd, What We Started

So we rise to fall again
Every cut will scar and mend
It gets blurred between the lines
When the truth gets left behind
Do you know what we started
Know what we started
Know what we started here today
When the light starts to shine
If I am yours and you are mine
And when the bell starts to ring
And the truth begins to sing
Do you know what we started
Know what we started
Know what we started here today
When the cracks they start to form
Like the calm before the storm
Sometimes high and sometimes low
On a long and winding road
Do you know what we started
Know what we started
Know what we started here today
When the light starts to shine
If I am yours and you are mine
And when the bell starts to ring
And the truth begins to sing