

Alexa Wilkinson Feat. Josh Kelley, Miles Away

I wouldn't mind if we stayed like this forever
Remember the last time we were like this together
Wrapped up in blankets and lost in your kiss, I never Thought it could end where it should've began together
After all the mistakes and the choices we made
There's a love that we both can't deny
We been miles away
Still it feels like yesterday
A feeling this strong's worth the wait
After all that's been said and done
Is it so crazy to still take a chance on tomorrow?
I'll take the reins and you pick the direction, I'll follow
Here in the dark with my head on your shoulder, I miss you
I promise never to take you for granted like I used to
After all love has done, it's still your heart and mine
And no one can take that away

We been miles away
Still it feels like yesterday
A feeling this strong's worth the wait
After all that's been said and done
Now we're back to that place, no more tryna save face
Put it all out on the table
'Cause I would do anything if it keeps you here with me
From now on I'm willing and able Miles away
We been miles away
Still it feels like yesterday
A feeling this strong's worth the wait
After all that's been said and done
After all that's been said and done
After all that's been said and done
I'm still in love with you
