

Alexandra Stan, Thanks For Leaving

We crashed and burned, a lesson learned
We fell head first, silly us, so stupid
Our lines got blurred, we walked into the fire
Knowing we'd get burned

But now my love has turned to hate
And I won't spend another day
With you inside my head
I know that we all make mistakes
Cause you're the biggest prize I paid
And now I'm paying of that debt

Go on! Sent you packing
So long! You been slacking
We're so out of reasons
Thank you for leaving
My heart's been reenlisted
You have been evicted
You're out! I'm spring cleaning
So thank you and thanks for leaving

I broke my rules, let you play me fool
Thought I was so cool, silly me, so stupid
How could you be so cruel, turned me into be a liar
Things I said I'd never do

But now my love has turned to hate
And I won't spend another day
With you inside my head
I know that we all make mistakes
Cause you're the biggest prize I paid
And now I'm paying of that debt

Go on! Sent you packing
So long! You been slacking
We're so out of reasons
Thank you for leaving
My heart's been reenlisted
You have been evicted
You're out! I'm spring cleaning
So thank you and thanks for leaving

Every crack in the wall it reminds me of
All the hundred million reasons I put down my gloves
I can't believe this was real
And the picture that still sits by the fireplace
Every time I had to see your little stupid face
I don't think I can deal

Go on! Sent you packing
So long! You been slacking
We're so out of reasons
Thank you for leaving
My heart's been reenlisted
You have been evicted
You're out! I'm spring cleaning
So thank you and thanks for leaving
