

Alexia, It's Not The End

Now I know, how you feel
Going down without a chance to deal
No more friends to take your hands
Without a reason to believe!

Do they know, the way it feels
Living in this world that's made of steel
With no plans, as a broken man
Losing your mind is hard to survive

You don't have to kick and fight
Because they'd never understand
All you've got to do
Believe in yourself
Cause this is not the end

Where is he gone, there's still a chance
We can try to take the right from wrong
Let me stay, show me your way
Your sunny side until the end of the line

You can say to me you're sorry
But you know that it's no good
This is not a story
Baby this is you!

You've lost your mind, you've lost your friends
You've lost your everything again
Without your love you can't pretend
But if you keep this burning flame I'll understand
I'll understand baby, this is not the end