

Alexz Johnson, Unraveling

I've been walking through the ruins
Of my life and times
Seems like everything is sinking right in front of my eyes
I've been asking all the questions
But nothings coming back
Now I'm trying to keep myself from slipping through the cracks
Where is my faith
How did I get this far
Who do I blame when it all falls apart
Maybe the moon is just a hole in the sky
One day at a time, my world is shattering
Maybe the answer's to never ask why
As I watch my life unraveling
Unraveling
I don't know who to turn to
And i wonder who is a friend
About everyone i trusted to the end to the end
I'm running out of reasons
For putting up a fight
Maybe the moon is just a hole in the sky
One day at a time, my world is shattering
Maybe the answer's to never ask why
As I watch my life unraveling
As I watch my life unraveling
Unraveling