

Alexz Johnson, Worth Waiting For

If every day was glowing like a perfect day in summer
You'd never know rain
If it was always the same

We need a bitter taste of falling
How to feel it back to know when it's right
To walk in the light

Sometimes you pull me back
Back from the edge
And I, I rescue you
Back from the dead
We got lost along the way but we got here in the end
I know it was worth waiting for
It was worth waiting for

Even with my friends I felt like I was just pretending
To know what it was
To turn it into a song

Somehow we're still standing after all the shattered plans
That faded away
Now there's only today

Sometimes you pull me back
Back from the edge
And I, I rescue you
Back from the dead
We got lost along the way but we got here in the end
I know it was worth waiting for
It was worth waiting for

Everything's just another
Stuttered step along the way
And every time I take it too far
You bring me back again

Sometimes you pull me back
Back from the edge
And I, I rescue you
Back from the dead
We got lost along the way but we got here in the end
I know it was worth waiting for
Yeah, You were worth waiting for
Yeah, You were worth waiting for

Yeah, You were worth waiting for
