<lyrics>

A girl is reflected on the water's surface
My hands reach out, but I can't embrace it
Touching the water's surface
I sink and shake my long curly hair
But like algae, we become entangled
In our determination

I understand why I want to go
To the place where I pluck the red moth's feathers
In order for me to expose the reciprocal

I pass by the mint boy
Even turning around, I can't reach him yet
Now, the white shirt's neck,
Even without the bruise of the thistle, slips off
A particle of the Sun

I know, what is attracting us
Is the daytime lizard diving
Piece by piece our souls are being tied together

Why people?
Can they be with Adam and Eve?
Although they paradise disappears immediately
Since I am me and you are the same, we will love each other
It's said to be beautiful
The true words
Even if they can be spit out

While I pin down your kiss
I've come to live but I'm alone
What is being awarded in the forest of the moon
Is unable to become impure
It cannot handle mixed blood
A drip drops

I have waited for us to meet
Before I am born
My flesh and blood is piled together suddenly

Why is it starting?
Will it become the legend of Adam and Eve?
Although it will tell of only the foolish crimes
I can melt into myself than anyone else and you love me
What one useless future
Is already unnecessary in this world?

Man and woman, the eternal Asura
We are an ethnicity because we don't fit in anywhere
That love can only flourish hideously
We are born on this earth as a disgrace

Can I not be with Adam and Eve?
Despite this being the start of a paradise
Since I am me and you are the same, we will love each other
(I can melt into myself than anyone else and you love me)
What one useless future
Is already not born in this world?
