One and two...
Dreams aren't meant to be counted like that
We have to get it more harder and bigger
That's what you've got to do

What you're carrying is so heavy, eh?
That's just a thing called "darkness of the mind"
And it's something so common

You have to squeal into the darkness right now
And try find the colors
To be able to draw any world you want

You don't want to do the same as others
Don't want it, not interested
You want something so special
And isn't that the reason why you came to me?

You better learn, poison
Be lecherous, psychedelic
Be dazzled and toss about
From now on you can have a lot to choose from

True love, just play, it doesn't matter
Just do it all
Coz, how much you do or have it done to you
Nothing's going to be taken away from you

Well, your heart seems so fragile than I had thought
It's so dependable yet so frail
Everyone else is like that too, and that's so cute

You say you love yourself more than anyone else?
That's so correct. Isn't it so nice
If you can love yourself without any hesitations

Freedom occurs when you're in fetters
Being alive is inconvenient
But you want to be just like me
Who always seems so carefree?

You better want, feel
Master, egotistic
Even though if you get hated and alienated
It's not like the world's going to end

It's not about searching for Which and where love is
But rather saying
That the next "now" is better than the "now" of now

Life is much for
Being bluff and arrogant
It doesn't matter even if the truth is much smaller than the lies

You better learn, poison
Be lecherous, psychedelic
Be dazzled and toss about
From now on you can have anything you wish

One and two...
Dreams aren't meant to be counted like that
We have to get it more harder and bigger
That's what you've got to do
