All the filthy and ugly things
That you have cast your eyes on in this world
With my fingers I shall cover up, wipe away
(For) I wish to see only what's pure

Flower of the earth that lowered its head
Bring that face up to the stars of the sky
And let us count hopes
One-by-one

Surely
I'll be reborn
As the mother
Who gives birth to you
And who strokes your hair just like this

Your tears that have flowed this far
Pour forth to the transparent ocean
Where they gather and then return

In the gaps of these waves, the moon glistens

Where is there love?
Where are people heading?
Let us search out the answer
Little-by-little

One day
I'll be reborn
As the mother
Who protects you
And who holds you just like this

But
For the moment I am just
A small girl
Who can't do anything
But be by your side...
