</lyrics>

the night doesn't need to peacefully listen to the velvet voices or the whispers of the clothes like I'm softly spinning and weaving a dream i close my eyes as i regretfully miss the fingers of my memories go pass, days
go die, days
please let me stop now

the window of the moonlight the blue falls ill standing on the waves of the moonlit sky's lake and drowning then sinking to the bottom of the heavens if i wake up privately again, the profound warmth 400000 breaths of mine have been played the remaining dream's gentle shadow disappears i cannot hug you my heart turns heavy and so does my sadness

go live, days
but not yet
