Under the glass sky
this city is a forest of ruins

A neon-colored dream scatters in this place here, cruelly and beautifully crossing over to that space now I want to meet you in order to live

An eye for the eyes of the children hidden in the basement

both judgement and pardon,
I cannot cleanse this impurity alone
I want to pour, I want to lift up only this body's red-red blood as a proof of life

At the paradise of degradation Pleasure is a virtuous god Beasts feed on flesh
Girls are filled with nothingness

More light

a tooth for the teeth of the children sleeping in the cellar Mother's chest is too distant

The overflowing flame of love
The otherwise sublime death
Under the glass sky
this world is a forest of ruins
