Translated lyrics:

RAINBOWS

the monochrome scenery in the dead of night the richly colored extention that I asked for the more they're spread out, the more colors are added like a peacock's feathers dazzling blinding the magic of light toward the endless spiral I'll paint it in the sky so it can reach you let's paint the miracle like show of the century resound! crossing over ground level repainting the dark I'll dance with you inside the layered light wake up the dream that wakes up from in the dark now let's go into the core of the morning hours if the things I can see are reality why are there dates on the opposite side of your heart that's falling into the negative that is where I will sing my voice will become clear so it can reach you before dawn ring the wake up bell ready, go! crossing over time through the dark take off now I'll bloom deutzia flowers that look like they could burn in my heart with you a cocktail that's like a noise the world that passes through the dark you and I probably don't need anything else
resound! crossing over ground level repainting the dark
the name given to the part of the view that the sky threw away
