Longest Highway

Lost in the silence

Surrounded by daydreams

Holding that someone that's holding my heart

Thrilled with the memory

Of the smile that you gave me

Gives a close feeling

Though we're far apart

The longest highway runs between us

Though you're just a heartbeat away

When I think of you, my heart knows no difference

I've got you with me every day

If I could be anywhere

I'd truly be with you

Then once feel the embrace of your hand in mine

The longest highway

Can sure seem forever

Through every daydream

I feel closer each time

The longest highway runs between us

Though you're just a heartbeat away

When I think of you, my heart knows no difference

I've got you with me every day
