All The Rings 'round Saturn

For all the rings 'round saturn

I wouldn't change the pattern of my life

And if every star above me

Told me that they loved me

Then their love i would deny

At my window watching changes

Contemplating as the world is drifting by

Slowly walking through the ages

And imagining that i would never die

But who would take this gift of endless moves

For eternity exists here in this room

For all the rings 'round saturn

I wouldn't change the pattern of my life

And if every star above me

Told me that they loved me

Then their love i would deny

In the daylight, through the darkness

I'm reflecting all extremes

Of being weak and strong

In my madness i'm on fire

All the rain may come and wash away my tears

No i don't need to venture from this place

Where an age leaves its impression on my face

For all the rings 'round saturn

I wouldn't change the pattern of my life

And if every star above me

Told me that they loved me

Then their love i would deny

Please come and exchange all that they know from my world

And i'll fly away

Seasons spin their web (impatiently)

Oh how i trust their infinity...
