All, Fool

I sent you a valentine. I'm afraid it won't get there till June Somehow I lost track of time, but you know I'm a fool for you I send a bouquet of roses, the kind that you're allergic to You know that I don't know better, you know I'm a fool for you Head over heels, banana peels, it's funny how you make me feel Like of love sick slapstick tragedy - would you like to Fool around with me?

I'd fall of the highest mountain, drown in the deepest river too Catch a cold in the hottest desert, you know I'm a fool for you I would sing outside your window if I could only hold a tune I suck so hold it against me. You know I'm a fool for you The real world seems so mean to me that I can't take it seriously But I love your laugh and I hope you see that I just might be the Fool you need

Every single time I'm with you something's wrong with what I do Don't get mad it's like I told you I am just a fool for you
