

All Gone Dead, Vivid Still Beating

Setting your sails on endless fight
The war planes are cutting through the night
Sirens are screaming, screaming bloody fright
Hide your families out of sight
In a world with crumbling walls
Faintly destruction still calls
Following, still so blind
Watching the fall of mankind
Looking to the sky, we wait and we watch for the sign...
Vivid, lost in a dream
Still, tear apart the seams
Beating, still beating
Vivid, lost in a dream
Still, tear apart the seams
Beating, still beating
Reaching for the broken mass
Take a deep breath, call it my last
As I close my eyes I saw my past
Loosing my body slipping fast
Now I lay me down to sleep
Six feet of earth, lie beneath
Every moment, every time
Dropping to display for all time
A halo of light, it caught my eye
My vision became so bleak
The static, it seemed to dance all around me
At the end of the tunnel, out went the light