

All That Remains, Focus Shall Not Fail

I find not distractions live life of single mind and failure is not inherent for I will have what's mine I'll struggle and sacrifice should I find value there I'll not be scorned by failure I'll not relent now my conscience shall dictate my way no more apologies no more mistakes now solid direction has strengthened my resolve fear not for consequences fear not at all my focus shall not fail I shall not fall and nor shall I despair exist no more distractions exist no more delays set free from inhibitions set solid on my way now set forth with purpose and with a strong resolve
fear not for consequences