

All Together Separate, Candle

There's a candle burning in a room
There are shadows dancing on the walls
In the dim light everything is gray
But the flame it keeps the night away
There's a cold wind blowing through the room
And a darkness waiting to consume
If I see the light then I know everything's okay
On and on the candle takes a blow
Pressing on through another candle's smoke
In the dim light everything is gray
But the flame it keeps the night away
There's a cold wind blowing through the room
And a darkness waiting to consume
If I see the light then I know everything's okay
If I see the light then I can make it another day
Cause I'm still burning
Burning wild at the sight of You
I'm still burning
But I'm lost without You
I'm still burning
Burning bright at the sight of You
I'm still burning
